*Members of CAPP are licensed psychologists who offer their services to individuals, groups, agencies, and institutions. In order to be eligible for membership in CAPP, an applicant is required to possess a doctorate in psychology and be licensed as a psychologist by the State of Ohio (or another state). School psychologists who have a master's or doctoral degree in school psychology as required for licensure, are also eligible for membership in CAPP. In addition, we have Student Affiliate membership available to graduate students, pre-doctoral interns, and post-doctoral fellows who are not yet licensed. Student Affiliates must submit a letter from a faculty member, advisor, or administrator stating that they are currently enrolled in a psychology degree program, pre-doctoral internship, or post-doctoral fellowship.

Cincinnati Academy of Professional Psychology

Thank you for your interest in the Cincinnati Academy of Professional Psychology. We believe that membership in CAPP can benefit you and your practice, as well as allowing you to make a contribution to both the profession of psychology and the interests and well-being of your clients. In these days of rapid changes in health care delivery, only well supported groups can be heard advocating for the needs of mental health users. Read about other benefits on the enclosed "Membership Benefits" page.

Enclosed you will find a membership application. Please consider joining us in the professional community. We look forward to hearing from you! If you have any questions, please call Laura Wilson, our Executive Coordinator, at 513-779-2181.

To better understand some of the questions on the application, the following is a brief description of the publications and services offered by CAPP.

DIRECTORY: The Directory is published every other year and includes the names of licensed psychologists who are CAPP members, their addresses, office phone and fax numbers, and practice areas of special interest. We do not list our affiliate members in the directory. It also includes a geographic locator based on office addresses and a cross reference section for the specialty areas to make it a more useful guide for those professionals who use it to make referrals to psychologists. In the past, the Directory has been sent to all area psychologists as well as to psychiatrists, physicians, hospitals, and attorneys. We hope that it serves as an important referral source to these professionals.

WEBSITE: CAPP maintains a website at www.cappnet.org. It lists all licensed psychologists who are CAPP members, their office address, phone number, and practice areas of special interest. We do not list our affiliate members (students). It is our hope that it serves as a valuable tool to the general public when searching for a psychologist in the Greater Cincinnati area.

REFERRAL SYSTEM: A referral and information service is maintained by CAPP. All CAPP members are part of this system. Referrals are made on the basis of clientele served, specialty area, and geographic area. We try to give each caller the names and office phone numbers of three different CAPP members and suggest that they call each to see which one may best suit their needs. Every effort is made to rotate the names of CAPP members.

SPEAKERS' BUREAU: We occasionally receive requests for speakers from schools, churches, civic organizations and businesses. If you so choose, we will put you on our list to contact when we receive such a request. Our policy is that CAPP members will do this as a community service and ask for no fee or honorarium. When a request is received, the CAPP Executive Coordinator will contact members to see who might be interested in a particular speaking engagement. If you are interested, you will be given the name and phone number of the person requesting the speaker so that you may contact them directly to work out details. In addition, we will maintain a link on the website that will direct organizations to prospective speakers by subject matter.

MEMBERSHIP BENEFITS

- Subscription to NewsCAPP, our newsletter filled with timely information on dealing with insurance companies, billing information, ethics dilemmas, educational opportunities, OPA news, available therapy and educational groups, and other timely tidbits.
- Information about you and your practice listed in the CAPP Directory, sent to numerous local referral sources (hospitals, physicians, attorneys, etc.). This is also a good resource for tracking down fellow psychologists. Members are listed alphabetically and geographically.
- An opportunity to advertise in the Directory mailed to over 1600 potential referral sources.
- Information about you and your practice listed on CAPP's web site: www.cappnet.org where you may share a link to your practice's website.
- Opportunity for referrals through the CAPP Referral Service, at no charge.
- Opportunities for continuing education--with OPA-MCE credits offered--on a regular basis and at a discounted price via an annual workshop and frequent dinner meetings.
- Opportunities to informally interact and network with fellow practicing psychologists who share in your concerns at dinner meetings and workshops.
- Opportunity for newly licensed psychologists to be paired with a mentor to help with the complexities of establishing a professional practice.
- Advancement of the practice of psychology through the Marketing and Public Relations fund-- helping to get important information about psychology and therapy to the public and to benefits decision makers and advocating on behalf of psychologists with various managed care entities.
- Close contact with other regional, state, and national associations to exchange information relevant to the enhancement and protection of psychology.
- The opportunity to gain more public exposure and provide a community service by listing in the CAPP Speaker's Bureau, and/or participating in CAPP-sponsored activities.
- CAPP serves as an advocacy and support system for all its members to ensure an accurate and fair portrayal in the media, to guard against unethical or false practitioners, and to support all its members in attaining fair treatment by third party payors.
